OCTOBER 2026

Happy October sisters! What a great conference we had! And fall is in the air, just a few more weeks of heat 🥵 I'm always so excited for this time of year when the holidays come around-it revives my spirits.

Anyways, while listening to conference, I heard so many talks about us being literal daughters of God and Him knowing and helping us on our paths individually. That He sees our potential and knows what we need to go through for improvement. He knows the best trials for us. He knows how to best help us through those trials. I just felt like a lot of the speakers talked about His awareness and mindfulness of us. I hope you all gleaned something personal and special from conference—I'm so excited to study the talks this year with you!

On another note, I've really been testing out the Book of Mormon spiritual challenge. I have tried doing something each day in the BOM to see how it will affect my spiritual momentum. I invite each of you along for the journey. I am needing and hoping for some small miracles in my life and hope this form of sacrifice will enlighten me and help my personal path. I'm testing out President Nelson's promise that "the windows of heaven will open, leading to answers to your questions and direct guidance for your life."

Boy, do we all need that! I hope to grow together as a sisterhood as we share and learn of ways this challenge has helped our lives.

I hope we can all feel the spirit of Thanksgiving and joy and hope this season, AND SPREAD IT! Love you all!

Alma 32:27

“But behold, if ye will awake and arouse your faculties, even to an experiment upon my words, and exercise a particle of faith, yea, even if ye can no more than desire to believe, let this desire work in you, even until ye believe in a manner that ye can give place for a portion of my words.”

288 Alma 32 289

21 And now, my son, I would have that ye should remember, and ponder in your minds, and not be so slothful.

22 For behold, I say unto you, that ye cannot suppose that you can believe in Christ, except ye will exercise a particle of faith.

23 And now, because ye are so slothful, ye cannot believe all things; wherefore, ye must begin at the least, and go on, step by step, through faith, unto perfection.

24 Yea, even if ye shall say: We believe in God, and we believe that Christ shall come, and we believe that he shall redeem his people; that he shall believe all things; we do not believe that he shall come in the clouds of heaven.

25 Nevertheless, if ye will awake and arouse your faculties, even to an experiment upon my words, and exercise a particle of faith, and exercise a particle of faith, yea, even if ye can no more than desire to believe, let this desire work in you, even until ye believe in a manner that ye can give place for a portion of my words.

26 And now, as ye have desired to believe, so shall it be unto you, if ye will but exercise a particle of faith, which is the beginning of that which ye shall be.

27 And again, I say unto you, that if ye will awake and arouse your faculties, even to an experiment upon my words, and exercise a particle of faith, yea, even if ye can no more than desire to believe, until ye believe in a manner that ye can give place for a portion of my words.

28 And now, I would that ye should learn that by small and simple things are great things brought to pass; wherefore, this is a hardening of the heart; and this is the slothful and the indolent.

29 And now, I would that ye should remember, that great things are brought to pass by small means.
